Symposium on Coercion:
An Interdisciplinary Examination of Coercion, Exploitation, and the Law

Editor's Note

The Uses of Abstraction: Remarks on Interdisciplinary Efforts in Law and Philosophy  Catherine Kemp

Remarks on Coercion and Exploitation  Alan Wertheimer

I. Coercive and Exploitative Bargaining

Moralized Theories of Coercion: A Critical Analysis  John Lawrence Hill

The Coercion of Women in Divorce Settlement Negotiations  Penelope Eileen Bryan

Coerced Waiver and Coerced Consent  David S. Kaplan Lisa Dixon

II. Coerced Confessions

Constraint and Confession  Albert W. Alschuler

The Decision to Confess Falsely: Rational Choice and Irrational Action  Richard J. Ofshe & Richard A. Leo

Balanced Approaches to the False Confession Problem: A Brief Comment on Ofshe, Leo, and Alschuler  Paul G. Cassell

Missing the Forest for The Trees: A Response to Paul Cassell's "Balance Approach" to the False Confession Problem  Richard A. Leo & Richard J. Ofshe

III. Coerced Confinement and Treatment

Coercion and Mental Health Treatment  Bruce J. Winick

The Continuum of Coercion: Constitutional and Clinical Considerations in the Treatment of Mentally Disordered Persons  Robert D. Miller

IV. Trans-Substantive Themes
Exploitation and Commercial Surrogacy
Alan Wertheimer  1215

The Twin Faces of Judicial Corruption: Extortion and Bribery
Ian Ayres  1231

The "Sophie's Choice" Paradox and the Discontinuous Self: Two Comments on Wertheimer
Jennifer Gerarda Brown  1255

Conceptualism By Any Other Name
Nancy Ehrenreich  1281