Educating Tomorrow's Lawyers

On August 22, 2011, DU's Institute for the Advancement of the American Legal System (IAALS) and the Sturm College of Law launched Educating Tomorrow's Lawyers, (ETL) an initiative which leverages the Carnegie Model (see the Carnegie Foundation's 2007 Report, Educating Lawyers) and the work of law schools and professors committed to legal education reform to align legal education with the needs of an evolving profession. By providing a supported platform for shared learning, experimentation, ongoing measurement and collective implementation, ETL is putting knowledge into practice.

The effort focuses on integrating years of insights and knowledge, as well as sharing current educational models to achieve that purpose. By offering a structured and highly collaborative approach, ETL is creating a foundation for ongoing inquiry, exploration and measurement.

As part of the media push around this important initiative, Dean Marty Katz was interviewed on the Colorado Public Radio show, "Colorado Matters," about how law schools are responding to changes in the legal profession by retooling traditional approaches to legal education. This project fits squarely with the Modern Learning Initiative in the law school's Strategic Plan, and it allows DU to play a leadership role in what appears to be a growing national movement. You can listen to Dean Katz's interview here.

Denver Law Resume Book

The University of Denver Sturm College of Law's Office of Career Development & Opportunities (CDO) is proud to announce the release of their new Resume Book. This resource contains resumes from recent Denver Law graduates which are keyword searchable so employers can quickly identify graduates that fit their needs. The CDO also can help search for a specific 2011 Denver Law graduate that meet certain employee needs via its new Job Matching program. If you know of an opportunity that may be a good fit for one of our graduates, please contact Assistant Dean for Career Opportunities Eric Bono at 303.871.6124 or ebono@law.du.edu.
