

Non-Profit Externship

In the Non-Profit Externship Program, students extern at a not-for-profit organization.

The accompanying one credit Non-Profit seminar course addresses topics specific to the practice of law in a non-profit, including working across cultures and identities, communicating clearly and effectively, and developing and understanding advocacy skills.

In the past, students have externed at an array of organizations, including:

- Rocky Mountain Immigration Advocacy Network
- Colorado Education Association
- Colorado Legal Services
- Rocky Mountain Victim Law Center
- The Legal Center for People with Disabilities and Older People
- Lambda Legal
- World Health Organization
- Brennan Center for Justice
- Bridges Across Borders Southeast Asia Community Legal Education Initiative

"...Incredible opportunity to work at one of the best impact litigation and advocacy organizations in the country."

"First foray into big picture problem solving."

"Many of the issues I worked on...were very different from anything I had seen on an exam."

"I absolutely love the work I am doing and those I am working around."

"They have helped me reconfirm the path I thought I would take."

"Observations like this have convinced me that I am in the right profession, a profession where people truly care about helping people who are in a position worthy of that help."
