

Finance Committee

October 5, 2009

- ICAA has their travel request from last week. However, their president was not able to make the meeting again today, so we are pushing that request ahead until next week when he can attend the finance committee.

- The next request is from the Student Animal Legal Defense Fund for a trip for three to the Animal Law Conference in Portland, Oregon. They are requesting $335 per person, at a total amount of $1,005. We think this is a great idea and a legitimate request and are recommending the total amount of funding SBA is allowed to fund. This would be 2/3 of the total cost per person. This amount comes out to $223.33 per person, with a total funding of $670.

- The next request is from the ACS and is for an event entitled the Annual Supreme Court Review and is being held on October 5, 2009. They are requesting a total of $250 for food for the event. This is a reasonable request in that the amount of money per person in attendance falls within the range we normally use. We are recommending $150 because they have a large balance relative to the amount of events planned this year. The events they do have planned for the year are mostly speaker events, which they could come to us again if they need to for additional funding.
