

Interested in racial justice?
Want to engage in meaningful small group discussions?

ACLU, Black Law Students Association (BLSA), The Rocky Mountain Collective on Race, Place, and Law (RPL), and Associate Dean of Institutional Diversity and Inclusiveness Catherine Smith present the series

Analyzing the Law Through a Racial Justice Lens

This series includes 4 lunch lectures and 4 follow-up small group discussions throughout the semester. Interested students will be placed into follow-up discussion groups of 5-8 students with a professor.

Lecture Topics:

- 1. Monday, February 2: Ferguson Follow-Up
Professor Robin Walker Sterling
- 2. Wednesday, February 18: Race, Communication, & Mass Media
Professor Lisa Graybill & Professor Alexi Freeman
- 3. Wednesday, March 4: Race and Reproductive Rights
Professor Nancy Ehrenreich
- 4. Wednesday, March 25: Race and Immigration
Professor César Cuauhtémoc García Hernández

Interested students should contact Katie Steefel at ksteefel17@law.du.edu, Parker Fulton at pfulton17@law.du.edu or Shaquille Turner at sturner16@law.du.edu.

Students can also sign up at the first lunch lecture...

Ferguson Follow-Up: Professor Robin Walker Sterling

February 2, 12:00-1:00pm

Room 180. Lunch will be provided.